Testing a Genetic Algorithm for Optimizations Problems

Ioana FARKAS, Elena DORAN

Abstract

This paper presents a starting point and introduction in the study of genetic algorithms (GAs) in the domain of optimization techniques. Because the final aim of our research is application of such techniques in integrated circuits design we analysed methods and adapted a GA for solving optimization problems.